MONTESSORI INCOME

FREE GUIDE

How to build an income from your home office

WELCOME

Hi, dear creator!

I'm so glad you're here!

If you've ever felt that little spark — "maybe I could make a living from what I love?" — then this guide was written for exactly you. It isn't a "make 100,000 in a week" castle in the air. It's a realistic, warm and concrete path from Montessori pedagogy to an income you can build from home, at your own pace, and without becoming someone other than yourself.

I know how it feels. You have the knowledge, you have the experience, and you have a deep love for children and learning. But when it comes to "how do I actually earn money from this without turning into someone I'm not?" — that's often where it stalls. Thoughts swirl, doubt creeps in, and everyday life takes over. This guide was made to clear up exactly that.

This guide is your companion along the way. Write in it. Flip back through it. Let it become your personal plan for the next 90 days and the foundation for everything you build next.

Here you'll learn to go from idea to your first sale — with AI as your creative partner. You won't have to open a preschool, won't have to spend capital you don't have, won't have to wonder "what should I post today?", and won't have to start with a blank page. I'll give you the steps, the reflections, the templates and the action plan, all the way through.

The most important thing first: you already have what money can't buy. You have real knowledge, many years of experience, and a warmth for children and learning that people recognise instantly. That's gold. The rest — the tools, the structure, the strategy — can be learned.

You'll get a system. A foundation. A rhythm you can rely on.

Ready to start? Let's begin!

Renate

ABOUT ME

Who is the woman behind the guide?

Renate Dahl

My name is Renate Dahl, and I'm a college-trained Montessori educator with over 20 years behind me as a teacher. I've stood in the classroom, served as a school leader, and followed countless children through their first, important steps.

Along the way I noticed something: the warmth and knowledge we educators carry deserves to reach further than one classroom at a time.

That's why I started Little Montessori Explorers — a little world of books, workbooks and digital materials built around curiosity, play and real learning. What began as an idea at the kitchen table is today a living brand I build on every single day.

I know how it feels to want to create something of your own — and at the same time feel the doubt, the time pressure and all the technical things standing in the way. That's exactly why I make guides like this one: to give you the honest, warm and concrete path I wish someone had given me.

This guide is my heart, put into a system. I hope it becomes the start of something beautiful for you.

With warmth, Renate

"Create with heart. Grow with strategy. Automate with AI."

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

This guide takes you through the most important steps for building a Montessori income. For each part you'll find explanations, reflection questions, practical tasks, ready-made templates and fields to fill in. The magic happens in the filling-in — that's where you go from reading about a plan to actually having one you can follow.

You don't need to do it all at once. Take one part at a time, and give yourself time to feel into it. The most important thing is that you write while you read, not afterwards. Here's the rhythm I recommend:

- Read one part at a time, in peace and quiet
- Reflect honestly on the questions
- Fill in the fields while you read
- Choose your one path to start with
- Use the ready-made templates and AI prompts
- Check it off — and celebrate the small steps!

There's no "right" speed. Some work through the guide in one evening, others over a week. What matters isn't how fast you finish, but how honest you are with yourself along the way. The best answers come when you dare to write down what you really think — not what sounds "right".

And one last thing: this is your guide. No teacher marking it, no one judging, no answer key. Just you, a pen, and a dream you're finally taking seriously.

Tip from Renate: Set aside 20–30 minutes in peace. Turn off notifications. Make a cup of tea. That's where it settles — where you go from "I should" to "here's my plan".

MY PROMISE TO MYSELF

Before we go on, I want to ask you for something. A little promise to yourself — not to me, just to you. Because it's you who'll walk this path, and you who deserves to succeed. A promise you write down and sign sits deeper than a thought you only think.

I, _____, promise myself:

- To meet this guide with an open mind
- To do the tasks, even when it feels uncomfortable
- To give myself time and room to create
- To stop perfectionism from stopping me
- To start small — but to actually start
- To celebrate the small steps along the way

My main reason for building an income from Montessori is:

How I want my life to look one year from now:

Date: _____ Signature: _____

THE THREE WAYS IN

Which income model suits you?

There isn't one path to a Montessori income — there are three. Most people don't succeed because they try everything at once, but because they choose one path first and build it fully before adding the next.

1. Digital products. Workbooks, printables, reading books and activity sheets you make once and sell over and over. Low risk, no inventory, no shipping — and it scales while you sleep. Perfect if you love making materials and already have ideas in the drawer. Your first platform can be as simple as an Etsy shop or a payment link on your own site.

2. Content & community. You share your knowledge, build an email list, and sell courses, memberships or guidance to those who follow you. Here you build trust over time, and the income comes from the relationship. Perfect if you like to teach and build something together with others.

3. Affiliate & partner. You recommend tools and products you love yourself, and earn a share when someone buys through you. No production of your own — just honest recommendations to people who trust you. Perfect as a calm first step while you find your form.

The truth: The three paths strengthen each other over time. But in the beginning you should choose one to build fully — otherwise everything ends up half-finished at once. Choose the one that feels easiest to begin with, not the one that looks most impressive.

CHOOSE YOUR PATH

Don't think "right" or "wrong". Think: what feels most like me?

Take your time with these questions. There are no wrong answers — only honest ones. What you write here becomes the foundation for everything you plan later in the guide.

Which of the three paths attracts me most — and why?

What have I already made or shared that could become a product?

What's the smallest, simplest thing I could offer first?

FROM IDEA TO SALE

The five steps — in the right order

Most people skip steps 2 and 3, and then wonder why no one buys. The order isn't random — each step builds on the one before.

- Choose one clear recipient — not "everyone"
- Solve one concrete problem for her
- Make something small and completely finished
- Show it off — again and again
- Make it really easy to buy

Choose one recipient: "Parents of 3–6-year-olds who want more calm in everyday life" sells. "Everyone interested in Montessori" doesn't. The narrower you dare to be, the more strongly you hit home.

Solve one problem: One product = one pain solved. Don't try to solve everything at once — then the message gets unclear. One clear promise beats ten vague ones.

Make something finished: An 8-page booklet that's finished beats a perfect book that never gets there. Finished is better than perfect — always.

Tip from Renate: Your first sale doesn't mean you're "done". It means you've proven that someone wants what you make. That's all you need to dare to keep going.

THE TOOLS

that make it possible

This is perhaps the most important page in the whole guide: you don't need to know how to code, design or build websites. You need the right tools that do the heavy lifting — so you can spend your time on what you're best at: the pedagogy and the warmth.

AI as a creative partner. Let AI write first drafts, suggest content and spare you the blank pages. AI starts, you finish — and you always keep the final word.

A design tool. With ready-made templates you make professional products and posts without being a graphic designer. You just fill in your own content.

A content plan. When you know what to post in advance, the stress disappears. Plan once, publish all month.

An email list. Followers can disappear with an algorithm. An email list you own yourself. This is where the warm, real selling happens.

This is exactly why I built LME Plattform — to gather the tools an educator actually needs in one place, without the technical headache.

MEET YOUR AI HELPER

Think of AI as a creative colleague who never sleeps, never gets tired, and is always ready to help you move forward. It doesn't replace you or your pedagogy — it removes what stops you: the blank page and "I don't know where to begin".

On the next pages you'll get ready-made prompts you can copy straight into your AI helper. You just swap out what's in [brackets] with your own, and you're off.

REFLECTION: How could using AI daily help you get there faster — and avoid the overwhelm?

Your AI helper can:

- ☐ Write an idea bank and posts in minutes
- ☐ Make a whole 30-day content plan
- ☐ Write emails, pages and captions
- ☐ Keep you focused and out of overwhelm

FIVE TRAPS

Why educators give up before their first sale

Almost everyone who gives up does so for one of these five reasons. The good news: once you recognise them, you can steer around them.

1. Perfectionism. Waiting for everything to be "completely ready". It never gets ready. Finished beats perfect, every time. The published booklet helps someone — the perfect one in the drawer helps no one.

2. Wanting to reach "everyone". When you speak to everyone, you reach no one. Choose one person you really want to help, and speak to her as if she were sitting right in front of you.

3. Hiding. Making a lot, showing little. People can't buy what they never get to see. Visibility isn't bragging — it's service.

4. Comparison. Measuring your day 1 against someone else's year 5. Your journey begins where you stand today.

5. Doing it all alone. Burning out without support. A community carries you through the hard days and celebrates the good ones with you.

Tip from Renate: You probably recognise yourself in more than one. That's normal. Choose the one that hits hardest right now, and decide on one concrete move against it this week.

WHAT'S HOLDING ME BACK?

Be honest with yourself — this is where change begins.

We can't change what we don't dare to look at. Use this page to be completely honest. No one else will read it.

Which of the five traps do I recognise myself in most?

What have I told myself about why it "won't work"?

What would I do today if I knew I couldn't fail?

30 DAYS OF CONTENT

Now we start creating visibility! Being consistent is the key. You don't need to overthink it — 30 simple ideas are all it takes to post every day for a month.

Here's your ready-made starter plan, made for you who shares Montessori, play and learning:

- Day 1 — Introduce yourself
- Day 2 — Show a day with you
- Day 3 — Recommend a children's book
- Day 4 — Share one simple tip
- Day 5 — An activity at home
- Day 6 — Answer a question
- Day 7 — Bust a myth
- Day 8 — Your biggest goal
- Day 9 — Show your workspace
- Day 10 — 3 favourite materials
- Day 11 — Your most important lesson
- Day 12 — Favourite things
- Day 13 — A challenge you solved
- Day 14 — Share 3 tips
- Day 15 — A new trend
- Day 16 — Your best trick
- Day 17 — Unpopular opinion
- Day 18 — Bust a myth
- Day 19 — Facts about you
- Day 20 — Inspiring quote
- Day 21 — Tell a story
- Day 22 — Little-known tip
- Day 23 — Your best trick
- Day 24 — Overrated advice
- Day 25 — Common mistakes
- Day 26 — 3 simple tips
- Day 27 — A quote you love
- Day 28 — Ask a question
- Day 29 — Mini "tutorial"
- Day 30 — Something fun

TASK: Go through each day and adapt the idea to your audience. On the next pages I explain every single idea.

THE IDEAS EXPLAINED (1-10)

- Introduce yourself — Tell who you are, your story, and why they should follow you. (You'll find a ready-made template further back.)
- Show a day — Give a behind-the-scenes look at a completely ordinary day with you.
- Recommend a book — Share a children's book you love, and your biggest takeaways from it.
- Share one tip — A simple Montessori tip parents can use right away.
- Activity at home — Show a simple activity they can do in the kitchen or living room.
- Answer a question — Answer a question you often get from parents or educators.
- Bust a myth — Take a common misunderstanding about Montessori and clear it up.
- Your goal — Share your biggest goal and how you plan to reach it.
- The workspace — Take a photo or video of your workspace.
- 3 materials — Share three materials or tools you can't do without.

THE IDEAS EXPLAINED (11-20)

- Important lesson — Share the biggest lesson you've learned this past year.
- Favourite things — Share some of your favourite things that your audience will find useful.
- A challenge — Tell the story of how you overcame a challenge.
- Share 3 tips — Three concrete tips your audience can use today.
- A new trend — Talk about a new trend in pedagogy and give your opinion.
- Best trick — Share a fun or genuinely useful trick.
- Unpopular opinion — Share an unpopular opinion — and explain why you hold it.
- Bust a myth — Take another common misunderstanding and clear it up.
- Facts about you — Share some fun facts, and ask your audience to share back.
- Quote — Share an inspiring quote your audience will love.

THE IDEAS EXPLAINED (21-30)

- Story — Share an interesting story — about yourself, a child or a family.
- Little-known tip — Share a little-known tip you find genuinely useful.
- Best trick — Share a trick that has really helped you.
- Overrated advice — Share advice that's often given, and explain why you think it's overrated.
- Common mistakes — Share common mistakes in your field — and what to do instead.
- 3 simple tips — Give your audience three simple tips they can use today.
- Quote — Share a quote that means something to you, and explain why.
- Ask a question — Ask a question and get the conversation going in the comments.
- Mini-tutorial — Show a simple "how-to" video of something useful.
- Something fun — Share something fun your audience will relate to.

Remember: Once you've posted these 30, look back at what worked best — and make more of it. The AI prompt on the next page makes 30 new ones in seconds.

READY-MADE AI PROMPTS

Copy, paste, swap out the [brackets]

This is worth gold. Paste these straight into your AI helper, swap out what's in [brackets] with your own, and let AI do the heavy lifting for you.

MAKE A WHOLE 30-DAY CONTENT PLAN

> I run a business that helps [TARGET AUDIENCE TO ACHIEVE RESULT]. Act as a social media expert and make a 30-day content plan with 30 simple ideas I can share on [PLATFORM]. These are their biggest fears, challenges and desires: [INSERT]. Take this into account and give me ideas that hit deeply, give value and create a real connection.

HELP ME WITH ONE SIMPLE POST

> I run a business that helps [TARGET AUDIENCE TO ACHIEVE RESULT]. I want to share [EXPLAIN YOUR IDEA] on [PLATFORM]. Act as an expert and suggest what I should share, a photo or video concept, and a catchy caption with a strong opening, tailored to my audience.

TEMPLATE: INTRODUCE YOURSELF

A simple way to start day 1 is to introduce yourself. Feel free to share a few photos in a carousel, and tell more about yourself in the caption — like this:

READY-MADE CAPTION TEMPLATE

> Hi to all new and returning followers! I want to introduce myself to those of you who don't know me yet. My name is [NAME], and I'm [SHORT ABOUT WHAT YOU DO / WHO YOU ARE]. >> A little about my story: [1–2 SENTENCES ABOUT YOUR BACKGROUND]. >> Some fun facts about me: > I [FACT 1] > I [FACT 2] > I [FACT 3] >> I'm on a mission to [WHAT YOU WANT TO DO / WHO YOU WANT TO HELP]. >> Here you can expect content about [WHAT YOU SHARE]. > Thank you for following along — I look forward to getting to know you better!

EXAMPLE: ONE WEEK

What a realistic creator week can look like

You don't need to work every day. Three set sessions a week beat seven random attempts. Here's an example — build your own on the next page.

Day	Time	What I do
Monday	30 min	Plan the week's 3 posts with AI
Tuesday	—	Off
Wednesday	45 min	Make and publish one post
Thursday	—	Off
Friday	30 min	Reply to comments, write one email
Weekend	optional	Gather ideas for next week

Remember: Consistency beats intensity — every time. Two calm sessions you actually keep are worth more than a perfect plan you never follow.

MY WEEKLY PLAN

Now it's your turn — fill in your own week.

Be realistic. Write in the days and times you actually have, not the ones you wish you had.

Day	Time	What I do
Monday
Tuesday
Wednesday
Thursday
Friday
Saturday
Sunday

MY 90-DAY PLAN

Break the dream into three months

A big goal becomes overwhelming. Three small goals, one for each month, become possible. Here's an example — fill in your own below.

Example

Month	My goal
Month 1	Make and publish my first little product
Month 2	Start the email list, get my first 10 subscribers
Month 3	My first sale — and celebrate it!

My own plan

Month	My goal
Month 1
Month 2
Month 3

BATCH DAY

Make a month of content in one session

Consistency happens when you plan ahead. A batch day lets you stay visible without burning out. Instead of stressing every day, you make everything in one calm session.

HOW TO DO IT:

- Choose a date for your batch day
- Block off 2–3 hours in the calendar
- Make as many posts as you can in one session

AI PROMPT FOR BATCH DAY

> Help me plan a batch day for content. I have [X HOURS] available. Make a plan for how I prepare, what I should write or film, and how I organise it all efficiently, so that I can make a whole month of content at once.

Bonus tip: Use a scheduler to time your posts, so the content goes out while you focus on replying and building relationships.

BUILD YOUR BRAND

What people know you by

Your brand is the heart of the business — it's what makes people feel you. You don't need to be a designer. Paste this prompt into your AI helper to make a beautiful brand card that suits you and your energy.

> Can you help me make a brand card for my business? > My business is about [DESCRIBE WHAT YOU DO AND WHO YOU HELP]. > The mood I want is [e.g. calm, warm, feminine, playful]. > The colours I love are [LIST YOUR COLOURS]. > > Please include: > • A colour palette with colour codes > • Suggestions for fonts for heading and body text > • Suggestions for textures or images that bring the brand to life > • Advice on how I use each colour so it feels cohesive.

NETWORK & RELATIONSHIPS

Visibility isn't just about posting — it's about connecting. When you start conversations, you build relationships that can open doors you never expected.

HOW TO DO IT:

Set aside 15 minutes daily for networking. Use the time to reply to posts in groups, comment on others' content with real value, send a friendly message to someone, and look for events you can join — online or local.

REFLECTION: What are three ways you could begin building deeper connections this week?

"When I show up to serve, opportunities flow to me."

EXPECT THE VALLEY

Every big dream has a dip

Every big goal has a moment where the spark disappears and doubt sneaks in. It's called "the valley of despair". The key? Don't give up when it gets hard. This is where most people stop — but not you. You're a brave creator.

WRITE DOWN: When things feel heavy — what will keep you going? Who can you reach out to for support?

Tip from Renate: Keep this guide visible. When you hit a low point, flip back here, read your promise from page 5, and remind yourself why you started.

YOUR ACTION PLAN

Concrete — what you do, and when

A plan only becomes real when it's tied to time. Here we break it all the way down, from today to the next three months.

Today: Choose your one path. Write one sentence about who you want to help.

This week: Make one small thing finished — a booklet, a printable or a post.

This month: Show it off, start the email list, and ask for your first sale.

The next 3 months: Repeat the rhythm. Add path two. Build slowly onward.

Tip from Renate: Don't wait for the perfect day. It won't come. The most important step is the first — the one you take today.

HOMEWORK & NEXT STEPS

To keep the momentum, here's your homework. Check it off as you go — these small steps move you closer to your first sale.

HOMEWORK 1: MAKE AND PLAN YOUR POSTS Use your content calendar to plan at least 7 days of posts. Make them in a batch and schedule them.

- Day 1
- Day 2
- Day 3
- Day 4
- Day 5
- Day 6
- Day 7

HOMEWORK 2: SET UP YOUR BRAND CARD Decide on colour palette, fonts and images so your brand feels cohesive.

HOMEWORK 3: START NETWORKING DAILY Write the names of the first three people you want to reach out to:

YOU HAVE A PLAN!

Time to celebrate and look ahead

Stop for a moment. You've just laid the foundation for something big. Breathe deeply and feel it — not many people get this far.

You're ready when you have:

- Signed your promise
- Chosen your one path in
- Seen which trap holds you back
- Made your weekly plan and 90-day plan
- Adapted the 30-day content calendar
- Filled in your action plan

Congratulations! You've done what most people never do — you've gone from dream to plan. Now it's just about taking one small step at a time. And remember: you don't have to walk the path alone.

"When you remember who you are, you become unstoppable."

YOUR COURAGE / FOR THE WAY ONWARD

Dear brave creator,

You've taken a powerful step today. You've set your intention, made a plan, and committed to showing up for yourself and your dreams.

There will be moments over the next 90 days where you feel tired, unsure or stretched. But those moments are proof that you're growing.

When things feel hard, remind yourself: You're doing something brave. You're becoming the woman who creates her own story.

Every post you share, every conversation you start, every small step you take — it all counts. You're building something that will give you freedom, meaning and energy. And you deserve every bit of it.

So keep going. Stay connected. Keep taking brave steps. You've got this.

With warmth, Renate

THE WAY ONWARD

You've built the plan. If you want the tools and the company along the way, the door is open.

LME Plattform. Everything in one place: AI helper, design templates, content planner and email tools — made for educators, not for technologists. You won't have to piece together ten loose tools yourself.

The LME community. You won't have to walk the path alone. Here you'll find others building just like you, sharing what works, and cheering you on when it gets hard.

Thank you for taking this journey. The world needs what you create.
